1. Introduction

The Anti-Homosexuality Act has, as at the end of February 2024, been in force for a period of 9 months. Human Rights Awareness and Promotion Forum (HRAPF) has continued to monitor the human rights situation and lived realities of LGBTIQ persons in the wake of the passing of the AHA and its subsequent enforcement, and to document cases of violence and human rights violations based on real or presumed sexual orientation and/or gender identity or expression (SOGIE), particularly in those cases reported to and handled by HRAPF's legal aid clinic, and has published monthly reports on this data for every month. This is the report of the 9th month of the AHA's enforcement, exploring cases reported in the month of February 2024, in which known or suspected LGBTQ persons were targeted for violence and violations purely on the basis of their SOGIE.

This report builds on the reports produced earlier in this series and therefore seeks to build on the data available about the enforcement of the AHA 2023 from 30th May 2023 to date.

2. Methodology

As with previous reports in this series, the report provides an overview of reported cases of violence and human rights violations on the basis of SOGIE that were reported to and handled by the HRAPF legal aid clinic in the month of February 2024. The report employs both qualitative and quantitative methods of data collection to collect and analyse the data shared in this report.

Quantitative data was obtained from a review of case files to ascertain the number of cases handled and the cases in which the particular incidents of violence and violations reported herein occurred. This data was then subjected to a further in-depth qualitative analysis to ascertain the circumstances under which the incidents occurred. Only cases in which there is reason to believe that the actions in the incidents deliberately targeted persons primarily or wholly on the basis of their real or presumed sexuality are included in the report.

A recurring limitation of this report is that it contains only cases that have been reported to HRAPF through our countrywide network of community paralegals, regional legal aid centres, specialised legal aid desks and the central legal aid clinic. This network is spread out enough to cover the majority of the districts in the country and all regions, but it is worth noting that there may indeed be areas where cases are not reported at all, thus limiting the data available for this report. HRAPF also recognises that not all cases that occurred in the month of January 2024, were reported to the HRAPF legal aid clinic. This report therefore presents a fair picture of the situation for LGBTIQ persons as reported to HRAPF, but may not necessarily be representative of the lives of all LGBTIQ persons across the country.

3. Nature and number of cases reported

HRAPF handled a total of 149 cases in the month of February 2024, an increase of 23.1% from the 121 cases handled in January 2024. Out of the 149 cases handled, 59 cases involved actions that directly targeted people for negative treatment on the basis of their SOGIE, representing 39.6% of all the cases handled during the month of February 2024. The number of cases in which individuals were targeted for negative treatment on the basis of their SOGIE has remained constant at 59 cases during the month of January 2024 and 59 cases during the month of February 2024, although the percentage of the total number of cases handled in which people were targeted for detrimental treatment has reduced from 48.7% in January to 39.6% in February. However, the number of individuals affected by these actions increased from 73 in January to 82 in February 2024.

Out of the 59 cases in which LGBTIQ people were specifically targeted for detrimental treatment during the month of February 2024, 32 were cases of evictions from rented properties, 24 were cases of violence and threats of violence while 3 were arrests for sexuality-related reasons. These actions affected a total of 82 individuals. This section of the report provides detailed data on these cases.

3.1 Evictions from rented property

Evictions from rented premises remain the highest category of violations. In February 2024, there were 32 cases of evictions from rented property that were reported to HRAPF's legal aid clinic, affecting 47 individuals. The cases were reported from the districts of Wakiso (25), Kampala (3), Kabarole (2), Luwero (1) and Mukono (1). The evictions were perpetrated primarily by the property owners/landlords (25), followed by family members (3), local council authorities working with property owners (2), and local council leaders acting independently (2). In many of these cases, the neighbors expressed suspicion and discomfort about the victims' sexuality, prompting the landlords to evict the victims.

The table below discusses these cases in detail:

No.	Case code	Date of reporting	District	Perpetrator	Brief facts	Number of victims
1.	HRAPF/PA /388/2024	1/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's neighbors complained to the landlord that the client repeatedly hosted only men in his rented room, and expressed the suspicion that this meant he could be	1 a homosexual. They asked the landlord to evict him as they were worried he would 'spoil' their children, and the landlord evicted the client from his premises.

2.	HRAPF/PA /389/2024	3/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's neighbours had constantly accused him of being a homosexual. The neighbours eventually reported this to the landlord, who issued him an eviction notice requiring that he vacates the premises within two weeks.	1
3.	HRAPF/PA /390/2024	3/02/24	Kampala	Landlord	A group of 3 men unknown to the client went to his home and started shouting at him, demanding that he leave their village because he is a homosexual. This attracted a crowd of people, including the landlord, who asked the men if they had proof of their allegations. They spoke to the landlord briefly before leaving. Three days later, the client received a letter from his landlord asking him to leave the premises for the client's own good, and for the safety of the landlord's property.	1
4.	HRAPF/PA /391/2024	5/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client was attacked by some men who were unknown to him while he was going back home. During the attack, they kept castigating him for being a homosexual, and after the attack they went to his landlord's home and disclosed to him that the client was a homosexual and asked that he stop harbouring him in their village. After the incident, the client's landlord ordered him to vacate his premises, stating that he was causing insecurities to them and the entire village.	1
5.	HRAPF/PA /392/2024	5/02/24	Kabarole	Community leaders	The client organisation was issued with an eviction notice by the Local Council (LC) I chairperson of the area in which their office is located. The LC Chairperson	1 noted that the village leadership had concerns about the work they do, and that they knew the organisation was working with homosexuals and recruiting the youth around the community into homosexuality, which could not be tolerated.

6.	HRAPF/PA /393/2024	6/02/24	Mukono	Landlord	The clients' landlady locked them in their house, demanding that they pay her rent arrears and leave the premises immediately because she had found out that they were homosexuals, and she was not willing to tolerate them. She made a lot of noise and attracted the attention of a huge crowd, whom she told that the clients were homosexuals. The clients were forced to promise to leave the premises that very day in order to get her to open for them.	4
7.	HRAPF/PA /394/2023	5/2/24	Kabarole	Family	The client was forced to leave the home where she used to live with her family because her guardian started to suspect that she was a homosexual. He repeatedly asked her to leave, and when she did not, he threatened to report her to the police, prompting her to move in with a friend.	1
8.	HRAPF/PA /395/2024	6/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's landlord evicted him after his neighbours complained that he was likely to be a homosexual because he routinely hosted men who looked and behaved like women (many of his friends are transgender women). The neighbours complained that his friends were a bad influence on their children.	1
9.	HRAPF/PA /396/2024	7/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's neighbours complained about him to the landlord repeatedly, arguing that he was a homosexual and asking that he evict the client. The landlord	1

					eventually agreed and issued the client with an eviction notice.
10.	HRAPF/PA /397/2024	8/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord, community leaders	The local area leadership and the client's landlord expressed concerns about his gender, and demanded that he avail his national ID so that they could ascertain his gender. The client was afraid to hand over the ID since it identifies him as a female, even though he has since transitioned. The landlord and the LC chairperson demanded that he leave the premises and the village if he was unable to provide an ID.	1
11.	HRAPF/PA /398/2024	4/01/24	Kampala	Landlord	The clients reported being threatened with harm by their neighbours for several months. When they failed to move away even after repeated threats, the neighbours reported to the landlord that the clients are homosexuals and demanded that he evict them, which the landlord eventually did.	3
12.	HRAPF/PA /399/2024	8/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	Unidentified persons tried to break into the client's rented house while he was away from home. A neighbor intercepted them and they informed him that they were trying to find proof that the client was a homosexual. The client informed the landlady about this incident, but she was quite unbothered by the incident. She instead told the client that she had received information that the client was a homosexual and demanded that the client vacate her premises at the end of the month.	1
13.	HRAPF/PA /400/2024	10/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The owner of the property where the client organisation rented office premises reached out to the organisation's staff and demanded that they leave the premises before the end of February 2024. This happened after the	1

					landlord found social media stories and footage about the attack on one of the organisation's directors, and came to the conclusion that the organisation was engaged in LGBTIQ work.
14.	HRAPF/PA /401/2024	10/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client was living with his partner whom he had introduced as his brother to his landlord and the neighbors. One of his neighbors unfortunately saw them kissing one time when he entered their house without knocking, and he immediately started spreading rumours that the two were homosexuals. The landlord eventually came to learn about their sexuality and he evicted them from his premises.	2
15.	HRAPF/PA /402/2024	11/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord, community leaders	The client's landlady repeatedly expressed interest in the client's sexuality, asking the client about the genders of his transgender friends who came to visit him. She later went and reported to the local area leadership that the client was a homosexual, and the LC chairperson wrote a letter to the client asking him to vacate the premises and the village by 29/2/2024.	1
16.	HRAPF/PA /403/2024	11/02/24	Wakiso	Family	The client's mother, who had always suspected that the client was gay, spied on a phone conversation between the client and his partner to confirm her suspicions. She then told the client's father, who immediately evicted the client from the family home.	1
17.	HRAPF/PA /404/24	12/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client was given a notice to vacate his rented premises by his landlord after his partner outed him to the neighbors as gay. The client's partner outed him inadvertently during a quarrel after the two had developed a misunderstanding.	1

18.	HRAPF/PA /405/24	12/02/24	Kampala	Community leaders	The LC chairperson served the clients with an eviction notice, asking that they leave the village because they were homosexuals. The chairperson specifically informed them that he had received several complaints about the clients' conduct, and that it could no longer be tolerated in the village.	3
19.	HRAPF/PA /406/2024	13/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients were living together, and had stayed in the same house for several years. The neighbours and landlady believed them to be sisters. Unfortunately, in February, the two had a misunderstanding and one accused the other of cheating. During the ensuing quarrel, the neighbours were able to deduce that the two were actually intimate partners, which was reported to the landlady. Two days later, the landlady served them with an eviction notice.	2
20.	HRAPF/PA /407/24	15/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients' landlord evicted them from their rented home on the grounds that they were homosexuals. The landlord informed them that he had received reliable information that they were homosexuals, and that most of the people they hosted at their home were also homosexuals.	2
21.	HRAPF/PA /408/24	15/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients' landlord issued them an eviction notice on the suspicion that they were homosexuals. He informed them that his wife, who usually stays at home and monitors the tenants and their conduct, was very uncomfortable with them because from what she had observed of their behaviours and their friends, they were obviously homosexuals, and she was worried that the	2 children in the neighbourhood would learn such behavior.

22.	HRAPF/PA /410/24	15/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client stated that since his return from prison where he had been detained on sexuality related charges, the neighbours have been complaining that the client is a bad influence to their children and will teach them homosexuality. They reported to the client's landlord, and the landlord asked the client to leave his premises.	1
23.	HRAPF/PA /411/24	16/02/24	Wakiso	Family	The client's sister found his phone charging at home and went through his messages on WhatsApp, including chats with the client's partner and on some community WhatsApp groups. She concluded that the client was gay, based on these exchanges, and reported the client to their parents. They severely assaulted the client and thereafter chased him away from their home.	1
24.	HRAPF/PA /413/24	16/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients were residing together, although they were not in a relationship. One night, one of them invited a friend over for the night, and at some point during the night, the three developed a misunderstanding and quarreled. In the course of the altercation, all three outed one another, raising suspicion among the neighbours (including the landlord) who heard the fight. The clients were evicted by the landlord the following day.	2
25.	HRAPF/PA /414/24	16/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client is a community paralegal who aided two friends who had been arrested on homosexuality related charges to secure their release on bond. After their release, they had nowhere to stay, so he allowed them to live in his home for a couple of days. Unfortunately, the landlord heard from the neighbours that the client was	1 hosting a number of people whose behaviours and appearance were queer, and whom they suspected of being homosexuals. The clients' landlord then issued him with an eviction notice requiring him to vacate his premises.

26.	HRAPF/PA /415/24	18/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client was evicted by his landlord on allegations of being a homosexual. This happened following a small gathering the client had had at his home which had been attended by a number of transgender women. The neighbours informed their landlord about the issue, and the landlord was so angry that he immediately evicted the client.	1
27.	HRAPF/PA /416/24	19/02/24	Luwero	Landlord	The client, a transgender man had a fairly close friendship with his landlord's wife, which the landlord assumed meant the two were having a sexual affair. He attacked the client, accused him of being a homosexual, assaulted him and then evicted him from the premises.	1
28.	HRAPF/PA /417/24	18/02/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients were evicted by their landlord after one of their friends, whom they had temporarily sheltered, started hitting on one of their neighbors. The neighbour reported to the landlord that all three of them must be gay, upon which the landlord ordered them to vacate the premises immediately.	3
29.	HRAPF/PA /418/24	18/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client in this case was evicted from a hostel (student housing outside the university) after he initiated a flirtation with his roommate, who was offended by it and reported to the hostel manager. The hostel manager promptly demanded that he leave, and also advised	1 other students in the hostel not to associate with him as he is a homosexual.

30.	HRAPF/PA /419/24	19/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The clients were outed by a friend of theirs to their neighbours, who informed the landlord that they were homosexuals. The landlord evicted them and demanded that they exit the premises by 29 th February 2024.	2
31.	HRAPF/PA /420/24	19/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's landlord demanded that he leave the premises because he had a house dog yet the landlord did not want dogs inside his houses. When questioned about this, however, the landlord explained that the client was a known homosexual in the area, and that he routinely brought around a number of young men which the landlord objected to.	1
32.	HRAPF/PA /422/24	21/2/24	Wakiso	Landlord	The client's neighbors came to learn about his sexuality and they reported him to his landlord, who reacted by evicting him. Suspicion about his sexuality mainly stemmed from the fact that his friends, some of whom were transgender women, visited him often and were openly expressive of their gender identity, which confused and then later upset the neighbours.	1

3.2 Cases of violence

There has been a slight decrease in the number of cases of actual violence and threats of violence against individuals on basis of their real or/ presumed SOGIE. In February 2024, 24 cases were registered affecting 32 persons, as compared to January 2024, during which 25 cases were registered affecting 32 persons.

i) Cases of actual violence on the basis of sexual orientation/ gender identity in 1 case and in 1 case, the perpetrators were bouncers at a bar. In all the 17 cases, physical assaults were involved and the victims sustained serious bodily injuries.

4.	HRAPF/PA/426/24'	22/02/24	Wakiso	Threat of physical harm	Unknown persons	A group of unknown persons went to the client's home and threatened to beat him up. They demanded that he stop being a homosexual, and promised to come back if he did not stop. 5.	HRAPF/PA/427/24	20/2/24	Wakiso	Threat of physical violence	Community members	The client's neighbours threatened to hurt her and her friends if she did not stop hosting women who look or dress like men in her house,	1

The clients got scared and were forced to run away from that village once they were able to escape the crowd.	2

3.3 Cases of arrests

In February 2024, HRAPF handled a total of 3 cases in which individuals were arrested on sexuality related charges. All persons arrested were charged with offences under the AHA. All the persons who were arrested were released on police bond, although their files are still under investigations and some are yet to be forwarded to office of the Directorate of Public Prosecution for further guidance.

The arrests registered during February 2024 affected 3 persons. 2 cases were registered from Wakiso district while 1 case was registered in Kampala district.

Chart: Human Rights Awareness and Promotion Forum • Source: HRAPF • Created with Datawrapper

In the same 9-months period from June 2022 to February 2023, a total of 342 LGBTIQ cases were handled, of which 115 cases (33.6%) contained actions that deliberately targeted LGBTIQ persons for detrimental treatment. This translates to an increase of 450 cases in the overall total number of cases handled, from 342 cases in June 2022 to February 2023 to 792 cases in the period from June 2023 to February 2024. The number of cases involving actions of active homophobia has also increased significantly from 115 in the period from June 2022 to February 2023 to an overwhelming 463 cases in the period from June 2023 to February 2024, a percentage increase of 302.6%, amply demonstrating the impact of the enactment of the AHA 2023 on the rights of LGBTQ persons across the country.

7. Conclusion

The data currently available shows a clear trend of increasing violations and violence against persons on the basis of their real or presumed sexual orientation and/ or gender identity, with the figures remaining worryingly high as the AHA 2023 moves towards the one year mark.
